

Amendments to the Abstract:

Please replace the Abstract with the following amended Abstract:

---

Q 4
A video compression technique is provided which reduces motion estimation computations. A digital signal processing system employs external memory. Detection speed is improved by loading a succession of refined search windows ~~are loaded on-chip~~. By so doing, the search involves fewer accesses to external memory and so completes in a shorter amount of time.

---